ORGANISED SHORE EXCURSIONS

Booking Direct with Silversea gives you peace of mind. Our local tour operators are fully insured and have been comprehensively vetted. In the unlikely event of issues with a Silversea tour, we assume responsibility and the ship will wait for our delayed shore excursion. These are important factors when comparing value. Please bear in mind as we traverse many far reaching destinations, the local infrastructure varies and is beyond our control. Road conditions and vehicles available locally may not be up to standards we are accustomed to. Guides and drivers may speak with a heavy accent at times depending on the port of call. Be assured however that at Silversea, we contract only the best tours and best operators available at each destination. Please Note: Silversea reserves the right to make any changes or modify a tour in case of unforeseen circumstances and/or to ensure the safety and comfort of our guests.

BOOKING & CANCELLATION DEADLINES

Shore Excursions are available on a first-come, first served basis. Guests should note that some shore excursions are very popular with guests and often ending up being waitlisted. In order to avoid disappointment, it is therefore suggested to book in advance via my.silversea.com until 48 hours prior to sailing. Last-minute requests to participate in excursions are subject to availability, which in some cases may not be determined until departure time pier-side. If changes or cancellations are required once onboard, tickets must be returned to the Shore Concierge Desk within the cancellation deadline. For our selected Shore Excursions Tickets returned after the cancellation deadline will be charged 100% cancellation fee to the guest's onboard account. Cancellation deadlines for the majority of our shore excursions is 48hrs prior to the port of call. Please note that certain shore excursions might have a different cancellation deadline; all cancellation deadlines are stated in the please note section of the shore excursion, booking form and shore excursion tickets.

KOJ-E / Ibusuki Sand Bath - Japanese Style Hot Springs Experience

Difficulty

Price: $249 - Duration: 4.75 hr(s)

(Please acknowledge the 'Important Note' section reported down below)

Ibusuki is an onsen town located in southern Kagoshima Prefecture. Unlike other onsen towns in Kyushu, Ibusuki is famous for its sand baths.

Scenic drive & photo stop at Lake Ikeda

Before heading to Sand Bath, make a memorable photo stop at Lake Ikeda which is the biggest volcanic lake in Kyushu, with a circumference of 15 kilometers and a surface area of 11 square km, and a depth of up to 233 meters. The almost round shaped lake is a caldera lake formed more than 6400 years ago because of volcanic activity in the area. Being a caldera lake, there are no rivers flowing in or out of the lake, and is entirely dependent on rainfall to maintain its water level. From Lake Ikeda you can see Mt. Kaimondake, a mountain rising 924 meters above sea level. It is commonly known as the "Fuji of Satsuma".

Ibusuki, Sand bath Experience & Hot Springs

The Sand Bath Experience is the most unique hot springs in the world, as "bathers" are buried in sand, rather than submerged in water. The heat and weight of the sand have an oddly refreshing and cleansing effect.

Upon arrival after the approximately one-hour scenic drive, receive your light Japanese robes "Yukata" and instructions to lie in the volcanic black sand. All but your head will then be covered with steaming sand, which is naturally heated from the underground hot springs. The benefits of being covered in hot sand may include improved blood circulation, detoxification, increased blood-oxygen levels throughout the body and highly valued beauty treatment for the skin. Be prepared to sweat much like you would in a sauna or steam bath, as your pores will quickly open up in the hot sand. Sessions typically last about 15 minutes, after which you will be helped out of the sand and shown to the hot springs to wash off and enjoy the outer bath.

Afterwards, commence your approximately one-hour drive back to the ship.

Important Note:

Japanese hot springs are enjoyed naked. Swimming suits are not allowed. It's permitted to bring a small towel into the bathing area, with which you can enhance your privacy while outside of the water. Once entered the bath, the towel must be kept out of the water. During the sand bath Guests will wear their Yukata only (light Japanese robes) that is provided together with shampoo, conditioner, body soap. The sanding bath area as well as the hot springs are not privately reserved for Silversea Guests only. The sand bathing area is mixed while the hot springs are separated for female-only and male-only. The use of the Sand Bath is forbidden after the consumption of alcoholic beverages. It's also forbidden for women who are pregnant or during their menstruation period. Photography and video cameras are not permitted inside the sand bath and hot springs. Tattoos are not permitted in the facility, however if they can be covered by a sticker or by yukata robe, you will be able to enjoy the Sand Bath.

This tour involves a minimal amount of walking with a few steps to negotiate to get on/off the coach and 20 steps at the sand bath. This tour is not suitable for guests with limited mobility. Elevators are not available at the site. Japanese yen is required for any purchases: guests are advised to exchange money at the airport prior the cruise. Local Tour Guides tend to have a strong accent therefore we urge flexibility. The duration of the tour may vary depending on the docking position.

Your tour continues with an outside visit to the adjacent Shoko Shuseikan Museum, which chronicles the 700-year history of the Shimazu Samurai. Visit La Maison Goten, which was once used as the main residence of the head of the Shimazu family and as a guest house to which domestic and foreign dignitaries were invited. ### Fish Preparation and Demonstration, Traditional Sushi Lunch

Next, re-board your coach and proceed to a local 'kaiten-zushi' restaurant, which offers sushi dishes to its diners on a conveyor belt. Guests can freely pick the dishes they like as they pass in front of them, or order dishes that are not available on the conveyor belt. Usually, the number of plates is counted to determine the cost at the end of the meal; this is how the Kaiten-zushi restaurant works. For this special arrangement, you are asked to pick up (or order) any dishes, and eat as much as you want. Also, observe a demonstration of how fresh is 'broken up', and sit down to a sushi lunch. After lunch, re-board your coach for the short drive back to the pier.

Arimura Lava Observatory

Continue to the Arimura Lava Observatory, located on a small hill, which was created by an eruption in 1946. Enjoy views of Sakurajima and Kinko Bay while walking along the ¾ mile promenade. Dejima was a small fan shaped artificial island in the bay of Nagasaki covering an area of 120m x 75m (390ft x 250ft) and was built in 1634 to house Portuguese traders and separate them from Japanese society by digging a canal through a small peninsula. The Dutch were moved to Dejima in 1641 and during most of the Edo period the islands were the single place of direct trade between Japan and the outside world. In 1922, the "Dejima Dutch Trading Post" was designated a Japanese National Historic site.

At the conclusion of your visit, re-board your coach and commence the short drive back to the pier.

Please note: This tour requires an extensive amount of walking for approximately 1.24 miles (about two kilometres), at times over uneven and natural surfaces, with a few steps to negotiate to get on/off the coach and 5-10 steps at the martial arts venue. The museum's antique collection comprises some 700,000 pieces, spans almost all of China's entire 5,000-year history and is the world's largest and most priceless treasure house of Chinese art. Many of the objects were part of the Imperial collection, and date from the Sung Dynasty. Exhibits include porcelain, bronze, jade, sculptures, embroidery, calligraphy, paintings, and pottery. The sheer number of displays is overwhelming, and one visit can only provide a glance at this incredible and famous collection.

Lunch at Grand Hotel or similar

Your next stop is the famous Grand Hotel, host to numerous dignitaries since its opening in 1952. With its traditional Palace-style architecture, vermillion pillars, brilliantly-tiled roof and palatial lobby, the Grand Hotel is not only a magnificent Taiwanese landmark, but emblematic of ancient China as well. After a buffet lunch at the hotel's Grand Garden restaurant or similar, your sightseeing tour continues with a visit to one of Taipei's most important temples.

Confucius Temple

Temples to Confucius are a concrete symbol of Chinese Confucian culture. Whilst the oldest of these temples in Shantung dates back 2,000 years, the origins of the Taipei temple can be traced to 1875, when the Qing court established Taipei as a prefecture for Northern Taiwan. During your visit, admire the ornate decorations and learn some facts about the various images.

Leaving the temple, a brief photo stop is made at the Presidential Square's impressive Presidential Office Building before arriving at your final stop, Taipei 101.

KEE-D / Lungshan Temple & C.K.S. Memorial Hall

Difficulty

Price: $169 - Duration: 4.50 hr(s)

The West end of Taipei was once the center of political and economic activities of the city and where modern development started. This tour takes you through Taiwanese history, looking from the traditional beliefs of the late Qing dynasty, to the cultural shifts under Japanese ruling, then to the political landscape after the arrival of the Nationalist government in 1949.

Lungshan Temple

Lungshan Temple was founded in 1738 and dedicated to the Buddhist Goddess of Mercy (Kuan-in in Chinese, or Avalokitesvara in Sanskrit). Its architecture is a three-section design in shape. There are the front hall, the rear hall and the right/left dragons protecting the middle hall. The layout is square and serene. Due to natural disaster and damages caused by men, the temple was restored several times. The doors, beams, and poles are beautifully decorated. There is a pair of bronze dragon poles in the front hall, four pairs of dragon poles in the middle hall. The sculptures are delicate. There are also exquisite wood sculptures. Among them, the well and Buddha setting in the main hall are highly appreciated. The temple has many Chinese poems, verses and lyrics on signs. These add a touch of literature in addition to the religious and sightseeing value.

Bopiliao Historical Block

At its peak during the late Qing Dynasty period (late 1800s), Bopiliao was one of the busiest and most prosperous commercial areas in Taipei, home to various merchants and was one of the major areas for the coal trade. During the Japanese occupation (1895-1945), new urban planning relegated the thoroughfare to a back alley as new roads were constructed to connect various parts of the city together in a more cohesive manner. This new connectivity within the city diminished the relevance of the area and it fell into disrepair.

The architecture of the area encompasses many different styles as Taiwan was passed from one colonial power to the next, including Southern Fujianese, Chinese Qing Dynasty, Japanese, ROC brutalist architecture influences, and modern Western architectural influences.

After exploring the area of Lungshan Temple, rejoin your coach and transfer to C.K.S. Memorial Hall. En route to C.K.S. Memorial Hall, you will drive pass Presidential Square that is once the headquarters of the Japanese colonial administration in Taiwan. The building was declared a historic national monument in 1998.

An 89-step staircase on two sides leads to the upper level. The enormous ground floor hall features a museum where you can view exhibits showcasing Chiang's life.

KEE-D / Lungshan Temple & C.K.S. Memorial Hall

Difficulty

Price: $169 - Duration: 4.50 hr(s)

The West end of Taipei was once the center of political and economic activities of the city and where modern development started. This tour takes you through Taiwanese history, looking from the traditional beliefs of the late Qing dynasty, to the cultural shifts under Japanese ruling, then to the political landscape after the arrival of the Nationalist government in 1949.

Lungshan Temple

Lungshan Temple was founded in 1738 and dedicated to the Buddhist Goddess of Mercy (Kuan-in in Chinese, or Avalokitesvara in Sanskrit). Its architecture is a three-section design in shape. There are the front hall, the rear hall and the right/left dragons protecting the middle hall. The layout is square and serene. Due to natural disaster and damages caused by men, the temple was restored several times. The doors, beams, and poles are beautifully decorated. There is a pair of bronze dragon poles in the front hall, four pairs of dragon poles in the middle hall. The sculptures are delicate. There are also exquisite wood sculptures. Among them, the well and Buddha setting in the main hall are highly appreciated. The temple has many Chinese poems, verses and lyrics on signs. These add a touch of literature in addition to the religious and sightseeing value.

Bopiliao Historical Block

At its peak during the late Qing Dynasty period (late 1800s), Bopiliao was one of the busiest and most prosperous commercial areas in Taipei, home to various merchants and was one of the major areas for the coal trade. During the Japanese occupation (1895-1945), new urban planning relegated the thoroughfare to a back alley as new roads were constructed to connect various parts of the city together in a more cohesive manner. This new connectivity within the city diminished the relevance of the area and it fell into disrepair.

The architecture of the area encompasses many different styles as Taiwan was passed from one colonial power to the next, including Southern Fujianese, Chinese Qing Dynasty, Japanese, ROC brutalist architecture influences, and modern Western architectural influences.

After exploring the area of Lungshan Temple, rejoin your coach and transfer to C.K.S. Memorial Hall. En route to C.K.S. Memorial Hall, you will drive pass Presidential Square that is once the headquarters of the Japanese colonial administration in Taiwan. The building was declared a historic national monument in 1998.

C.K.S. Memorial Hall

Renamed the National Taiwan Democracy Memorial Hall, this white marble monument was built in honor of 'Generalissimo' Chiang Kai-shek to house the gigantic bronze statue of Taiwan's first president. The roof of this white marble structure is decorated with deep blue glass tiles, and the surrounding gardens have beautiful flowers year-round. An 89-step staircase on two sides leads to the upper level. The enormous ground floor hall features a museum where you can view exhibits showcasing Chiang's life.

After visiting C.K.S Memorial Hall, conclude the tour with a drive back to Keelung port.

Please note: At the Chiang Kai-Shek Memorial Hall, an elevator is available to go up to the upper level. The tour sequence may vary. Poorly dressed visitors or those wearing slippers will be barred from entering the temple.

The Vietnam War, or the American War as it is known in Vietnam, pitched modern American technology against fierce Vietcong resistance waging a guerrilla war. On this full-day tour, experience a local perspective on wartime memories and the infamous Cu Chi Tunnels.

The two and half hour drive southwest from Saigon to the Cu Chi Tunnels is a pleasant foray into the surrounding countryside. It is hard to believe you are entering a former war zone of such strategic importance. The busy road passes through tranquil rice paddies where entrepreneurial villagers use the hot roadside as a platform for drying all manner of produce. Hundreds of sheets of paper dot the countryside, drying on woven racks in the relentless sun. A short stop is made at a small village for photos of the countryside view and paddy fields.

At Cu Chi, your guide explains the underground network, shows the displays of tools and weapons used by the guerrillas, and provides insight into the ingenious methods that the Vietnamese soldiers employed to remain undetected. Work on the tunnels began in 1948 during the war against the French, and greatly expanded throughout the 1960s.

Measuring 31 inches (80 cm) wide and five feet (1.5 metres) tall, the maze of tunnels was extensive, extending over 120 miles (193 kilometres). They included storerooms, sleeping quarters, kitchens, medical facilities and classrooms, and at one time, over 16,000 people lived in the tunnels. Most only 2 or 2.5 feet wide by 5 feet high (60-72cm X1.5 metres), the tunnels had thick roofs capable of withstanding the weight of tanks or the impact of bombs weighing up to 200 pounds (91 kilograms).
